- Faith and Work (Part I), Jamie Peterson (Library) - Have you ever asked yourself in the middle of the work day, "What is the purpose of my work?" or "Why is work so hard and frustrating?" This class will use the first two parts of Tim Keller's book Every Good Endeavor to see what God's Word says about God's plan for our work and the problems we all face in our work. Part one of a two-part series.
- Numbers: In the Wilderness, John Pearson (Sun Room) - How do we face life's trials? This study of the book of Numbers will guide our discussion as we learn how God's sovereignty and grace sustains us through life's trials.

This month, we finish our summer sermon series, Theology of Work. As we consider what it means to live life as mission to redeem Birmingham for the glory of God and the good of the city, we are naturally faced with this question, "How do we live out that command practically in our places of work?" This series studies what God's Word says about our work. Work is a gift from God, given before the Fall, and therefore is good. What does it mean to work? How does our work matter? Does God have a pattern for work? All of these questions are immensely practical for everyone, from the child to the retiree.

All Theology of Work sermons are available via our church app, podcast, and website.
